THE SENIOR CLASS PRESENTS THE PINNACLE OF 1963

Mr. Reginald Ricker, we should like to thank you for your sincere guidance as your class advisor. During the last two years, you have worked faithfully with our class. You've always given us that extra push, yet you've always been there to keep us from falling. We've also enjoyed having you for our home room teacher this year and we thank you for being so patient and understanding with us.

We dedicate this yearbook to you in the hope that throughout the years to come you will remember our class with fond memories. And with this dedication we extend to you our wishes for a golden future.

In Appreciation

Mrs. Myrtle Austin, there is no way that our class can really thank you for all the assistance, guidance, patience, and thought you have given us. We have always depended on you to give us wise counsel. You have guided us through the past four years with a deep understanding of our many problems. We especially thank you for making our senior play a success this year. Mrs. Austin, we honor you for the devotion to your work in developing the minds and characters of your students.

Mr. Winfred Kenoyer, you can't possibly realize our appreciation for the cooperation you have given our class this year. It means a great deal to us to know that you are working with us and are encouraging our many activities. Your administrative abilities have made this an enjoyable year for all of us. Mr. Kenoyer, we should like to honor you for the harmony that you have brought to Erskine this, our senior year.

Principal's Message

To The Class Of 1963:

My hearty congratulations go to you graduates, who in spite of many hurdles, completed your high school work. Four years ago you began your high school careers with feelings of anxiety and mixed emotions concerning your aims and purposes in life. Today you are ready to embark on a new way of life. Some of you will continue your formal education while others will be anxious to begin working and fitting yourselves into a pattern of life in your own community.

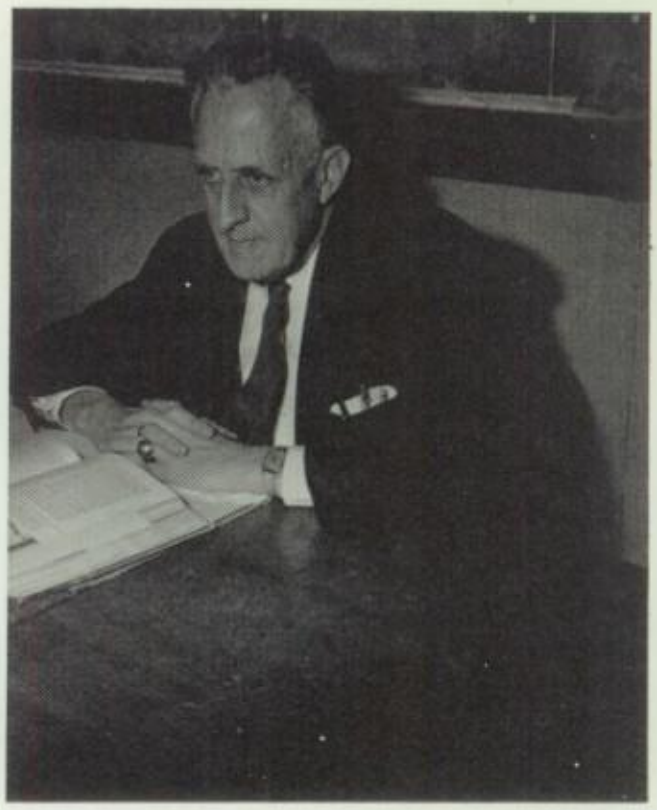
Whatever path you choose you will find that the moral, spiritual and physical training you received at home and at school will prepare you to compete in a complex world and will enable you to take advantage of the opportunities to continue to study and learn.

Whatever you undertake I wish you the best of success, but remember, "Success is for those who are hopeful enough to look for it, patient enough to wait for it, energetic enough to work for it, brave enough to seize it, strong enough to hold it, and intelligent enough to enjoy it."

Winfred Kenoyer

Faculty

We can't take it!! Not another test please —Mrs. Austin.



Response is overwhelming!!! Poor Mr. Ricker!!

English literature is a riot, isn't it, Mr. Militano?!!

That will be enough of that! Of what, Mrs. Salmon??

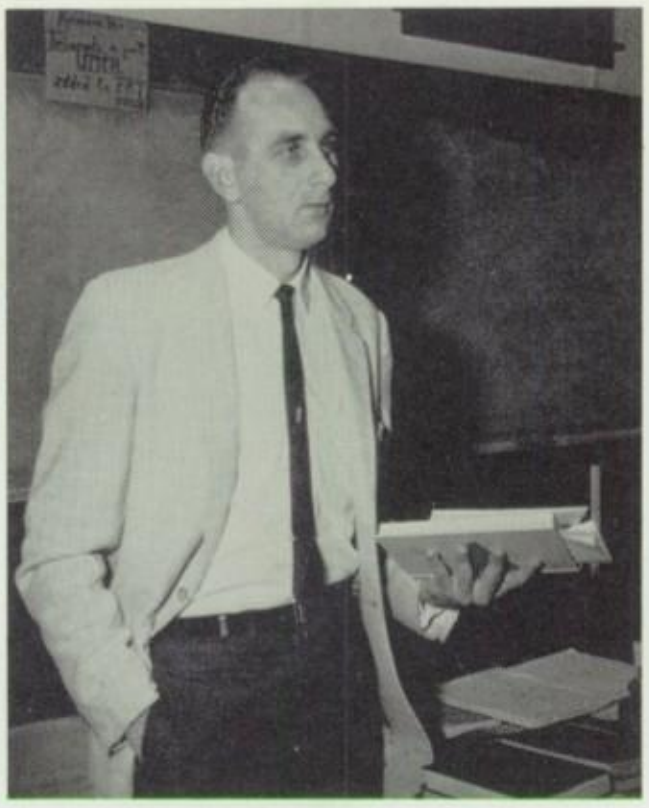
Way down south!!! Why you don't have an accent at all, Mr. Poole.

Look out for sparks!!! Ah shucks, why can't we play with it too, Mr. Russell.

Let a smile be your umbrella, Mr. Johnson, when the kids blow up the lab!

Bet you could teach those amebas how to play basketball, Mr. Coleman!!

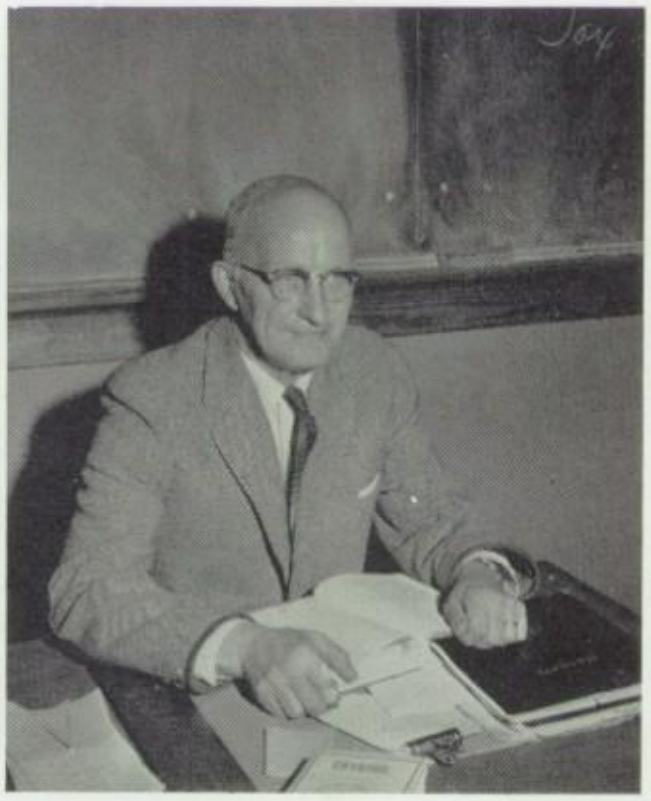
How low can you go!?! Pretty low when it's to get out of homework, Mr. French!!



Where were you January 31st, Daddy?? Congratulations, Mr. Smith!!!

Now that the yearbook is finished, you can really smile, right, Mrs. Washburn.

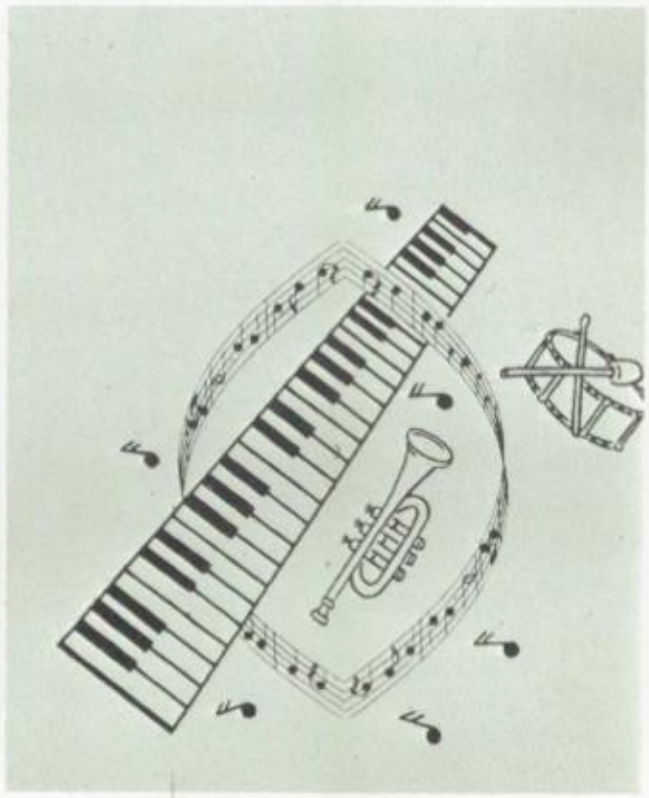
Somebody skipping line?!! Or are they chewing gum, Mr. Downer.



Why don't they listen to me?!? Well, it's like this—Mr. Muder.

Must I eat it after I cook it!! Are you really going to make them? Miss Brown.

Shush! Shush! Quiet! Is that the title of a new song, Mrs. Cates???



"Don't say can't, say I'll try." We'll try to remember, Mr. Cimbollek.

We, the Seniors, would like to express our gratitude to you our faculty for your dedicated work in the field of education.

Personnel

Do those girls tire you out? Mrs. Lowden??? Thank heaven for sleep!!

Always busy and always smiling! How do you do it, Mrs. Parady??

Do those typewriter keys go tick, tick or tom, tom, Miss Leeman??

What's cooking, Mrs. Nowland—steak, lobster thermidor or hot dogs??

Oh, come on, Mrs. Brann, won't you let us gaze into your eyes!?

It really takes a long time to wash and wax the floors, right, Mr. Ingraham?!?

BOYS

Some boys are short.
Some boys are tall.
Some boys are big.
Some boys are small.

Some boys are happy.
Some boys are sad.
Some boys are good.
Some boys are bad.

Some boys are handsome.
Some boys are cute.
Some boys are poor.
Some boys have loot.

But when it comes to having a weekend date,
Or just having some down-right
fun,
You can be sure of this my friend,
It's to the boys we run.

The boys are the ones we think about,
No matter what our thoughts
may be.
They are the ones who can make us cry
Or make us laugh with glee.

Sometimes they can be hateful;
Other times downright mean
But most of the time they're the sweetest things
Our world has ever seen.

So no matter what happens, be happy.
Enjoy yourself if you can;
For remember, someday, these little boys
Will grow up to be men.

Yes, the boys of today are the men of tomorrow.
But, no matter which they may be,
They'll still continue to cause us
sorrow,
Or make us laugh with glee.

GIRLS

Some girls are short.
Some girls are tall.
Some girls are big.
Some girls are small.

Some girls are happy.
Some girls are sad.
Some girls are good.
Some girls are bad.

Some girls are pretty.
Some girls are cute.
Some girls are poor.
Some girls have loot.

But each and every girl
Is basically the same.
And each and every girl
Plays the same old game.

Their dress and walk and talk
May vary with different ones;
Because some are very small,
While others weigh tons and tons.

You might call one a lady;
While another is just a dame.
But no matter how you look at it,
Their Anatomy is just the same.

Each girl is completely different;
And yet they're all alike,
Always polite and good natured,
But they never pass up a fight.

They're ugly and they're moody,
And sometimes a little strange.
And when you raise their temper,
They have quite a vocabulary range.

Now don't get the wrong idea,
And think I don't like girls,
I like every inch of them,
For their toes up to their curls.

There's one thing we all have to face,
No matter what is to be.
Each and every one of them
Is a basic necessity.

The Harvest

A life can be counted and marked by the steps of achievement in it. During these four years at Erskine Academy we have made our steps of achievement and have sown a field of knowledge. Our teachers and parents have guided us along each step towards our goal. Many times they have had to stand behind us and push us forward.

When we enrolled our freshman year, most of us had some idea of what we wanted to do. We placed ourselves in the course that would best help us toward our destination. Four long years we have labored long in the fields of knowledge. The seeds of wisdom and truth have been sown by trial and fault. Now we are ready to reap the harvest. Some of us will reap the field slowly, and we will go on to another bigger and better field. Here we bring some of the seeds from the other field to sow. In four years' time, we will again reap the field of its produce. The harvest of knowledge will be even bigger and better than the previous.

Even if we don't go on to the second field, we will continue to sow and reap. For doesn't life teach us some small bit of knowledge each day that we can gain from? At some times the bad seeds of mistake may be sown and some bad grains of knowledge may be harvested. But surely the good grains will outnumber the bad ones. Then again a wind of good fortune may come along and blow the bad chaff away.

Each day we must water our fields of knowledge with trials. Even if we fail in our undertakings, cannot the fields survive without water for a few precious days? The sunshine of wisdom of others is ours, whether the wisdom belongs to our teachers or parents. They have sown their fields and are reaping the produce. They know that there may be many pitfalls along the road of life for they have trod the road. Through their advice and concern we are able to reap a better harvest of the grains of life and knowledge.

Now we are to enter the world. We have sown the seed, it has grown. It is ready to be harvested, but are we ready to reap it? I think so, for we have given our fields the best sunshine and water possible.

A DAY TO REMEMBER

The memories of graduation day are as vivid to me, an old lady of seventy-five, as they were on that day when the excitement, confusion, and tears of the occasion were blended to make the most mixed up, pitifully funny day of commencement there ever will be for a senior class.

Of course, the fun started when the seniors marched across campus to the wrong piece of music, and never ended until the right piece was used for the recessional. Poor Sally! How she tried to remember that the tassel is on the wrong side when it isn't on the right side; however, everyone else seemed to be wearing theirs wrong, too.

Before all of us were on the platform, gorgeous George had to trip on nifty Nancy's heel, so both came closer to doing the limbo than the march, but, luckily they managed to control themselves. After we were finally seated, we silently sighed a sense of relief though with a touch of uneasiness.

Amazingly enough, all the speeches were excellently given; so by the time the diplomas were presented, all were self-assured and impatient for the certifications of achievement. For some, these certifications were only the beginning; while for others, they were the ultimate grant of freedom. Nevertheless, all diplomas were presented without difficulty, except for the fact that jolly Joe, captivated by the eyes of a sweet maiden, had to, for some reason, hear his name twice before he proceeded to get his diploma.

Now my mind is getting weary; but I do remember that had I not sunk my heel into the ground on that most precious day, I would not be so happily married to the poor victim at whose feet I fell.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Foreword

Underclassmen:

Before long our high school days will only be cherished memories. As you too reach your senior year, you will have many such memories. Some events you will remember better than others, such as that important game you wanted to win, your first school dance, the class parties, the thrill of being a senior, and at last the wonderful feeling of accomplishment when the coveted diploma is placed in your hand. You will recall the many smiles, sorrows and dreams of your friends and classmates. There will be sad moments of trial and error, and also brief moments of glory for some of you in sports, musical and dramatic productions. You will have shared the hopeless reality of examinations and dead. lines, the semester grades, the noontime cafeteria rush.

There will be wonderful memories; but when you become a senior, you will think more of the great challenges of the future and the even greater responsibilities of the world. You will become fearful and wish that you had followed the advice of your parents and teachers, who tried to tell you that you must study and work hard to achieve success. You should always remember that today's achievements are built on today's accomplishments. So morrow's achievements are built on today's accomplishments. So each day do the best you can. It is not sufficient to put forth just enough effort to "get by." It is effort beyond the mimimum demands of your teachers that turns an acceptable job into an excellent one. I know that you must strengthen your educational background in order to successfully compete in this demanding world. No matter how tedious the task my seem, keep up your studies. Extra curricular activities too are necessary for they help build your character and personality. These two things will be vital to you in the future, but most important of all will be knowledge, and only by studying can you obtain this knowledge. When you become a senior and look back over your four years of high school, you will know that knowledge comes from the long hours you spend on your studies.

Underclassmen, may you, when you come to your senior year, have as many cherished memories of your four years as we do. May you always treasure the friendships you have made at Erskine Academy. And, when you walk down across the beautiful green campus of Erskine, shaded by its majestic trees, may you have that feeling of accomplishment in having at last reached the goal for which you have worked for four happy, joy-filled years.

At last our busiest year has arrived. Believe us, we juniors have had no time to spare this year with our many projects. Not long after school opened, we sponsored a Halloween social which was a success both socially and financially. Our important project this year has been the three-day Winter Carnival which included the Grammar School Tournament, a supper and a semi-formal ball. In February we held a Valentine Record Hop with David Dulac, an Erskine Alumnus as our disc jockey. This year too, we have edited the Junior Journal each month. Now we are planning for our two biggest projects of all, our class trip to Washington, D.C. and our Junior-Senior Prom. We wish to thank our advisors Mrs. Austin, Mr. Coleman, and Mr. Downer for their guidance this year. Working together in our junior year has been fun. We hope we shall have as much fun in our senior year.

THE NIGHT BEFORE TEST DAY

'Twas the night before test day,
And all through my house,
You could see me studying
As quiet as a mouse.

The books were piled high
On my desk with care,
Oh! what a nightmare,
Studying there.

Reading a story
With all of my might,
How I had wished I could
Just say good-night!

Bernice Merrithew '64

I THANK GOD

Each day I thank God—
I thank God for His care;
I thank Him for all good gifts,
That made the day so fair.

I thank Him for the night-time,
For stars and moonlight, too;
I thank Him for my parents,
And friends so kind and true.

I thank Him for all good things,
The flowers and the birds that sing;
I thank Him for the daylight,
And for night's quiet hours.

I thank Him for the sky so blue,
And the sun and the rain;
I thank Him for the fruit,
And the rich, golden grain.

I thank Him for our country,
And our dear homes so fair;
I thank Him for our loved ones,
And for kind and loving care.

ONE SCHOOL DAY
—Parody on "Night Before Christmas"

"Twas the Thursday before vacation,
When all through the place,
Not a student was whispering
Or showing his face.

The gum in their pockets
Was hidden with care,
In hopes that Mr. Kenoyer
Wouldn't find out it was there.

The students were snuggled
All down in their seats,
And visions of homework
Gave them the creeps.

Sharon Simmons in her apron
Ervin in his cap
Were both settled down
With her on his lap.

When up in Room 2
There arose such a clatter
Mr. Poole ran up
To see what was the matter.

Then away to the office
He made a grand dash,
Met Mr. Caswell at the corner,
Both fell down with a crash.

The sun in Room 2
Had made Gene fall asleep
And the noise that was heard
Was when he fell from his seat.

When around the north corner,
Mr. Smith came like a shot.
He giggled so hard
We all thought he would pop.

And who from the Home Ec. door
Should appear
But Mr. Johnson with red spots—
Lipstick, I fear.

And our little Mr. French
With his cute grin so sincere
Was pulling Sonny from Room 7
Along by the ear.

With more strength than ever,
He'd shown before,
He quickly threw him
Through the detention-room door.

Now Steele, now Roach,
Now Lucy, and Toni
Stop horsing around
Or we'll send you to Cony.

All over the schoolhouse
This could be heard,
All were shaken
We dared not speak a word.

Down in the lab,
We heard a commotion
We knew the Physics class
Had caused an explosion.

Out of the lab window,
Mr. Russell flew
With a handful of batteries
And John Priest, too.

Mary exclaimed
As he flew out of sight
Bye—and be sure to correct
My test paper tonight.

We went to school
The next day with delight,
'Cause everyone knew
Vacation started that night.

As the Seniors gathered
In their home room,
Mr. Ricker declared
With a big boom:

Now you kids be quiet
I'll be back in a while,
And at the thought of no teacher,
They grew rather wild.

Then acrobat Pilsbury said,
"Watch me, I'll do a few stunts,"
With that, he picked
Up his heels and jumped.

Head over heels
Into the air he goes
And landed full force
Down on his nose.

He was in this position
When the teacher walked in,
And Mr. Coleman yelled
With his voice very grim.

"Get up, Joe,
And straighten yourself out,"
With a moan, Joe did so
Feeling embarrassed, no doubt.

Morning flew by,
And the time went fast,
For a Valentine picnic
To the gym, we all passed.

We all comfortably settled
(Looking rather stupid),
When one of the students,
George Studley, posed as Cupid.

He went around winking
At the girls with delight
I pity him when
That Senior sees him tonight.

Now the party is over,
And as you go out of sight,
Everyone wished to say,
"May your holiday be bright."

Now that we are nearing the close of another year, we, the sophomores, look back over the highlights of the class.

The biggest highlight of the year was that we received our class rings. We were all very excited and could hardly wait to go to the corridor to get them.

A few weeks before Thanksgiving we sold tickets on a Thanksgiving basket, which was won by Hugh Wright.

The sophomore class is well represented in the extra curricular activities. We are now making preparations for the dance we are planning to have in April.

THE MAGIC OF SNOW

Comes the dawn of a new day in midwinter. The rays of the morning sun, rising in the eastern sky, sheds new light on the snowy whiteness left by the storm the night before. There is a new freshness in the air, in the trees, and even in the crystal clear water of a stream slowly meandering through the peaceful valley. The trees, their limbs weighted heavily with snow, sway slowly and smoothly in the breeze. The scenic splendor of these snow-covered trees, a gentle rippling brook, and a sheet of fleecy whiteness set against a background of bright, blue sky is a breathtaking sight. You can't truly appreciate its beauty without first viewing its domestic splendor with your own eyes. Fleecy white clouds drift slowly by, untouched by breezes far below. Young children play happily and joyously in his wonderful, magic whiteness called snow. Church bells echo over the hills and valleys bringing the people from the villages and farms to pray and give thanks for their many blessings. I, too, must put down my pen and walk out into this magical land, this winter wonderland, so that I may appreciate fully these things which have evolved, and how about you?

A FAITHFUL FRIEND

I would like to introduce you to a most faithful friend of mine. Most of you already know him, but there are still a few people who have yet to get acquainted. This friend of yours and mine is very difficult to describe because he is so very different from any of our other friends. I am going to try to tell you about him. See if you can guess his name!

This little friend is always with us although we may not often be aware of his presence. When ever we have a problem to solve and are having difficulty trying to decide what is the right thing to do, we can usually count on him to give us the answer. He rarely tells us a lie. Usually, if we think that he has told us a lie, it is because we didn't take his advice in the first place and did just as we pleased anyway.

Often times if you are a selfish sort of person, you push this friend aside and do not listen to what he has to say to you. This is a very bad thing for you to do, more often than not. Many times you will be able to recall as I have, that you would have been much better off, had you taken his advice.

Often, we tell ourselves we are right even though we know we are wrong. It's at a time like this, that we need the guidance of this friend very much.

If one should offend him, he will sooner or later get revenge upon this person. There is no witness so terrible and no accuser so powerful as he, and yet no one approves more if we do right.

By now, I suppose you have thought of all of your friends who might answer this description. With all this information about right and wrong, maybe you think I mean law. Well, I don't although I imagine he has helped to prevent many crimes before they became the problem of the law. For many who have been guided in the right direction, they have nobody to thank for it except this most faithful friend.

I believe that I have given you enough facts now so that you have some idea of whom I am writing. If you don't, I would like to say just this, "meet your faithful friend and mine, Mr. Conscience."

THE BIRCHES

When it's spring time in China,
And the leaves become green,
"The Birches" is the place
Where the couples are seen.

They sit there together,
Their hands clasped tight
As they look out on the pond,
In the cool breeze of the night.

They watch the playful waves,
The lights on the distant shore
Above them the sparkling stars
Shine on the haven they adore.

The white of the birches,
The silvery moon above
Give to the many couples
Sweet memories of young love.

Gail Clarke '63

SPRING

What comes to mind
When I think of spring?
A gentle breeze,
A bird on wing.

Crocuses pushing
Up through the snow,
Daffodils budding,
Jonquils glow.

Robins and bluebirds
In the orchard trees,
Starlings and grackles
As noisy as can be.

Pussy willows opening
Down by the brooks,
Violets are purple
In sunny nooks.

All nature awaits
With the warm spring breeze.
When I think of spring
I think of these.

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR TEACHER!!

There are ten basic formulas or rules for torturing your teacher. As this is the end of the year, I'm sure most of you have used them all more than once. If you have used them all, be sure to study them so you can use them next year.

First, Offer Unusual Excuses when assignments aren't ready. You will get a good reaction with this, especially if the assignment was made long ago and your excuse covers only last evening.

Second, Miss Tests Frequently. Teachers just love to make up special tests for students who always seem to be sick on the day of a big test.

Third, Inquire About Your Grade. The best time to do this is on a Friday afternoon just as the teacher is leaving for home. Ask her about her grading system and be sure to inquire about your best friends also. Please always remember to tell her a better way of grading.

Fourth, Ask To Make Up Back Work. When you have accumulated about half a dozen assignments, go to her for make-up a day or two before grades are to be averaged.

Fifth, Be Thorough. Make sure you understand the problem completely. Ask questions, but wait until six people have asked the same question before you.

Sixth, Contribute To Class Work Eagerly and Often. Always remember, however, to give the same answer someone else has just given even if it has been declared wrong. And please remember; start talking about another subject when it's your turn to answer the next question.

Seventh, Be Pleasant. Keep everyone amused. Bring your favorite joke toys to class. You know what I mean, rubber snakes or plastic spiders. Still better, bring live ones. Don't forget to pass that note around that says there are green foot steps on the ceiling.

Eighth, Be Inquisitive. When your teacher is just giving a point-by-point analysis on an important subject, wait until you feel she's reached the climax, raise your hand as she pauses, and ask a pertinent question like "May I Sharpen My Pencil?" She'll really appreciate knowing that she is getting through to you and you understand it all.

Ninth, Express An Earnest Desire To Improve. Tell your teacher how much it means to you to learn. Be frank and specific. For instance advise her that if you don't make the Honor Roll, your father will impose a curfew. This will leave quite an impression.

Tenth, Don't Be Aloof. Display your affection. Treat her as a pal. Grab her arm occasionally or clip her on the back. She'll love you for it.

Now! If you do all these things faithfully and with diligence your teachers will never forget you. In fact, they'll be so charmed by your pressure in class, they may wish to keep you there for another year. One thing is certain, you'll go down in memory as a student they really wish they could pass along—to their worst enemy.

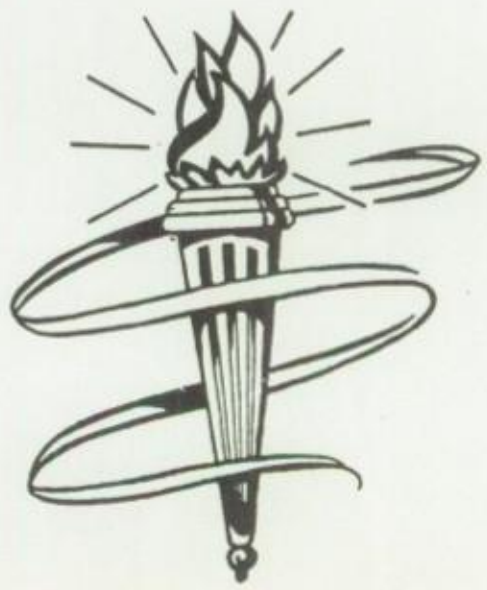
ACTIVITIES

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society this year has 6 members, the following four being the officers: President—Gail Clarke; Vice-President—Theresa Starkey; Secretary—Donna Green; Treasurer—Norma Hallowell.

At the initiation this spring, the NHS hopes to enroll many more members of superior character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Election to this society is the highest honor any student of Erskine Academy can achieve. These members also have the responsibility of living always according to the principles of this society so that they may bring honor to their school.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and admiration to Mrs. Austin, and Mr. Johnson, our advisors, for their unselfish and undivided assistance and encouragement.



SEATED: S. Parlin, L. Bulger, D. Collins, E. Dostie, G. Clarke, M. Pine, C. Dostie, L. Haskell. STANDING: G. Nolan, T. Starkey, B. Bumps, P. Steele, M. Ulbrich, D. Brann.

Student Council

This year the Student Council has had several meetings with our advisor, Mr. Kenoyer. Our purpose is to promote better school spirit among the school body.

Early in the year new members were elected by each class making the representation in the Student Council complete. We elected as our officers this year—Pamela Steele, President; Miriam Ulbrich, Vice-President; Bonnie Bumps, Secretary and Dave Brann, Treasurer.

In September we sponsored Freshman Initiation. All the Freshmen, as well as the entire student body and teachers, enjoyed the antics of the Freshmen. A short dance followed.

Unfortunately, the Student Council was unable to attend the State Student Council Convention which was held in the early fall.

Our main project for this year is to arrange a showcase, which will display "Pinnacles" from the first publication to date. We are currently revising the blue handbook.

E-Club

The Athletic Club has been very active this year. We have raised money for new equipment in football and basketball. We have also raised money to help pay for the new locker rooms and showers that were built this year in the basement of the gym. We have many new members, and we feel that this club is a tremendous help to all athletes.

This year's officers are as follows:
President—Joe Pilsbury
Vice-President—David Brann
Secretary—Nancy Bumps
Treasurer—George Studley

N. Bumps, J. Pilsbury, G. Studley, D. Brann

FIRST: A. Austin, S. Morais, M. Strout, P. Steele, A. Roach, N. Bumps, C. Dostie, M. Pine, P. Glidden, L. Jayes. SECOND: Mr. Russell, T. Starkey, T. Dinsmore, H. York, G. Jackson, M. Nilsen, T. Science Club

This year the science club has established a specific goal for its members. Each member must have a science project which will be entered in the various area science fairs. Our advisors, Mr. Russell and Mr. Johnson, are hopeful that Erskine will come away with some of the high honors.

To be a member of the Club, one must be enrolled in a scientific course. The Club's membership has increased since an interest in science for the future of the students of Erskine has been advanced at the school.

The officers of the Club are President, Gail Clarke; Vice-President, Mike Pearson; Secretary, Thomas Maines; and Treasurer, Aurie Austin.

The club wishes the members of the graduating class the best of luck as they step forward into the scientific world of tomorrow.

College Club

The College Club under the guidance of Mr. Muder is organized to acquaint its members with the various colleges and their requirements for admission. We hope to be more active in the future and to visit some of the colleges near our school.

We also hope to raise enough money to give a graduating Senior a scholarship to the college he or she wishes to attend.

In the spring, the College Club usually sponsors a Career Day, on which speakers of different occupations will inform the students of these careers.

MAGAZINE DRIVE

Erskine Academy held its annual magazine drive this fall to earn money for the general fund. The business managers were Dave Brann (Junior) and Colin Dyer (Senior). The school's profit was $289.11,

Each year many prizes are awarded to the top salesmen who sell over $30.00 worth of subscriptions. High salesman, Pauline Wilson, received a transistor radio. The top six salesmen were:

Pauline Wilson	$66.17
Mary Strout	46.68
Mildred McLean	42.40
William McCaslin	40.44
Theresa Starkey	34.42
Lauret Fischer	34.40

Congratulations, keep up the good work, kids.

Junior Journal

We, the class of '64, have continued to edit and publish the Junior Journal under the guidance and perseverance of our co-editors, Miriam Ulbrich and Patti Glidden.

This year the Journal has turned almost completely into a junior project. The students who type have taken home the stencils for the various pages and typed them themselves. We have also run off the copies on the duplicator ourselves. The whole class wishes to thank Mrs. Washburn for working with us the first part of the year, showing us how to stencil and run the duplicator.

Please, coming juniors, continue the Junior Journal next year. Good luck to you.

Winter Carnival

One of the most exciting and thrilling events of our school year was the annual Winter Carnival, held January 25, 26, and 27.

At the magic hour of ten a queen, Nancy Bumps and a king, Joe Pilsbury were crowned to reign over this Winter Wonderland. Attending the royal couple were Mary Strout, Judy Smith, Marjorie Wood, Sandra Braley, George Studley, Mike Pearson, David Brann, and Tommy Maines.

The juniors, who worked hard and very willingly, were well pleased with the great success of the carnival.

Chic-a-la-ca Fair

Our annual minstrel show, Chic-a-la-ca Fair, proved again that it was one of the most awaited events of the year. Last Spring under the direction and guidance of Mr. Peter Perry, this annual event was one of the finest ever held at Erskine. Besides being a success, it was heaps of fun for everyone concerned.

The gala weekend concluded with a semi-formal ball which proved to be a special event for all who attended.

Junior-Senior Prom

Last year the Junior-Senior Prom was held on June 1st, with "Rendez-vous of Stars" as the theme.

The golden throne of stars embanked with blue angel hair was set off by the blue ceiling with silver stars. All these decorations blended attractively with the pink streamers along the sides.

Dick Moore and his orchestra provided the music to which Colin Dyer crowned the queen, Marilyn Carr; and the king, Britt Norton. Attending the queen were Beverly Bumps, Sandra Grimshaw, Mary Purington, and Janice Wadlin.

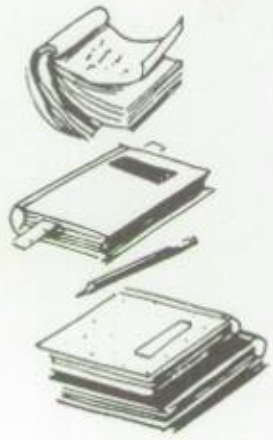
Girls' State

The girls who attended Girls' State from Erskine Academy were Nancy Bumps and Aurie Austin. The alternates were Mary Strout and Susan Gerry. Girls' State was held at Colby College.



N.M.S.Q.T.

Last spring several juniors participated in the N.M.S.Q.T. (National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test). Four students scored 95% or above in mathematics or English. These were Donna Green, Mary Strout, Theresa Starkey and Aurie Austin. There were several other students who scored in the low 90% too. This percentage is very good.

Erskine Hall

To us girls who would have to travel so far to attend the Academy, Erskine Hall with its cheerful, friendly atmosphere has become like a true home. Here we work together as a small family to keep Erskine Hall a dormitory of which we are always proud. We breeze through the tasks assigned to us. Indeed, we all have fun doing these tasks together. In the evening we meet in the Home Economics kitchen for an hour of supervised study. Here we solve our school and, many times, our social problems. Our Erskine Hall could not mean so much to us without the patient and kind guidance of Mrs. Lowden. Thank you, Mrs. Lowden, for making Erskine Hall a home to us.

Library

Although our library is small, we are continuing to grow. This year we have added a new steel stack which has given us a place for our increasing book supply. Some of the more interesting books we have added this year are: "Fanny and the Regent of Siam," "The Ivy Tree," "Lives That Inspire," "Leave Your Tears in Moscow," and "The Miracle Child." We wish again to thank Mr. and Mrs. Merle Jones for their kind contributions of excellent books.

Our librarians this year have been Bette Rowe, Marilyn Warner, Nettie Reynolds, Dwight Cooper, Mike Nilsen, Marjorie Wood, Joan Wilcox, and Miriam Ulbrich.

Book Store

During the noon recess, you will always find a crowd around the book store. Whether it is the candy and potato chips or the two smiling faces of Pauline Wilson and Dianne Tremblay that draw the crowd, one will never know. We appreciate Pauline's and Dianne's work and also that of those who work in the store after school.

Receptionists

Those who have volunteered as school receptionists for this year and have given up their much needed study halls are Sharon Simmons, Theresa Starkey, Pamela Stimpson, Joan Wilcox, Pauline Wilson, and Joyce Herbert.

Their service has been greatly appreciated by the school.

Scrapbook Editors

We appreciate the work that goes into our school scrapbook. Marilyn Warner and Bette Rowe have taken charge of gathering newspaper clippings concerning any past and present students of Erskine. This scrapbook is a source of enjoyment for all of us who look at it from time to time, so we hope to always have such fine editors to keep it up-to-date.

Boys' Glee Club

The glee club, under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Cates, consists of 100 students. Because there are so many students interested Mrs. Cates has the students divided into three groups, freshmen and sophomores, juniors and seniors, and the boys. This year the glee club sang at the Senior Play and is now eagerly awaiting Chic-a-lac-a and the Music Festival.

Band

When our school year began this year, many of us students were disappointed to find that we hadn't a band director. However, as time progressed, we were fortunate enough to have Mr. Max Cimbollek come in as our ready and able band director.

Because of the fact that we didn't have a director when school started, many students lost interest in band altogether. Thus, when our first band practice came around we found the number of students out for band had greatly decreased from what we had last year.

Although we are small in number, we are still mighty in strength. With the help of Mr. Max Cimbollek, every band member has learned that you should never say "I can't," but say—"I'll try."

We haven't played for any activities as yet, but we are hoping to play for a Spring Concert and the Music Festival some time in the future.

We'd like to extend our sincere thanks to Mr. Cimbollek for all the help he has given us so far and for all the help he'll give us in the future.

Majorettes

This year we have raised money for the material for new uniforms which Mrs. Arlene Smith has kindly offerd to make for us. These uniforms will be completed by April. We, the majorettes, are looking forward to wearing these uniforms when we march with the band this spring at the Music Festival and on Memorial Day.

This year the majorettes have practiced every week under the direction of the two head majorettes, Marilyn Warner and Janice Page!

FOOTBALL

I just came to this country a year ago,
And I have seen a funny game.
A fellow just puts his head way down low,
And kicks his foot with perfect aim.

A funny looking man with a whistle—
Runs around in his stripped pajamas,
Acting as if he owned a missile
Or even perhaps a herd of llamas.

The boys play on a white lined ground
Scrambling for an odd shaped ball,
When all of a sudden someone cries, "We want a touchdown, we want a touchdown!"
How can I give him one, when the ball is over the wall?

THE FOOTBALL SEASON'S ON THE WANE,

Varsity Football

Our 1962 football team actually outplayed many teams although the scores did not show victories. The team had wonderful spirit and determination and worked hard for our school. (More boys showed interest this year as the whole school has a growing enthusiasm.) Since we are losing just three players at graduation, and have many veteran lettermen returning, Erskine will make an excellent showing next fall.

Good luck, Coach Coleman and teammates! We know next season will be a tremendous success!

Varsity Basketball

This year our boys have had an excellent team which has won ten and lost six games. This season has been their best for many years. The team has improved greatly; and as they are losing only three players at graduation, it will continue to improve next year. The boys show great potential, and Coach Coleman has been building all season from a strong bench for next year's team. They should have a season of all wins next year.

Good luck to all of you!

Girls' Basketball

Under the supervision and guidance of our new coach, Mr. Johnson, the girls' basketball team of 1962-1963 had a fairly successful year. Winning eight and losing three, the coach as well as the team was quite satisfied.

The team came in second place in the Southern division of the KVC league this year. Much thanks goes to Coach Johnson for all his time and effort. We would also like to thank Miss Brown for chaperoning all our practices and away games. Also, our managers, Lucille Crummett and Lorraine Evans, deserve a lot of credit.

Losing only four seniors at graduation, the veteran players should have a real successful year ahead. The best of luck to the coach and team next year!!!

J. V. Basketball

The J.V. Basketball Team had a very successful season this year with ten wins and only two losses. We were discouraged to lose our first game, but we came back to win all except one of the remaining games. Many people said a couple of games we won by luck, but I think all of the J.V. boys agree that we won those games because of the competent leadership of our coach, Mr. Smith.

Without the help of Mr. Smith, our record might have been reversed. We all want to thank him very much for all that he did for us during our J.V. Basketball season.

Varsity Cheerleaders

This year the varsity cheerleaders sponsored a food sale and were very successful. We purchased new cheering sweaters.

The girls have cheered at all the football and basketball games with a lot of pep. Graduation will see only one girl leaving; head cheerleader, Pam Stimpson. Three girls come from the junior class. They are Judy Smith, Sandra Braley and Nancy Austin. The other girls come from the sophomore class, Karen Kenoyer, Hazel Barton and Kathy Bradley.

Best of luck to you and the ball club next year, Girls!

J. V. Cheerleaders

This year the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders have proudly cheered for both the J.V. boys and the Varsity girls. We hope to have done equally as well as the Varsity. We sold megaphones at one of the football games to help the Varsity earn money for new sweaters. We have the Varsity's sweaters since they received their new ones at the last part of the season. We were proud to have one of the J.V. Cheerleaders move up to the Varsity as they were short one girl; this was Karen Kenoyer. Susan Taber, a sub, took Karen's place. The head cheerleader this year is Martha Tibbetts. The rest of the squad are as follows: Pam Libby, Marion Brann, Bette Rowe, Linda Dow, Marcia Tibbetts, and Susan Taber. The subs are Judy Stevens and Maureen Bickford.

SCHOOL SONG

There's a school whose worth we love to sing
There's a name we love right well,
And ever will we tribute bring
Her glorious name to swell.
It's a place that shows us how to fight
For honor, truth, and right;
And ever will our voices raise to sing her praise.
Praise! Give them a rousing cheer for old E.A.
Fling out her banner now for aye!
Long may it wave so proudly in the light,
Showing the Royal Blue and White. FIGHT! FIGHT! FIGHT!
While our exultant song shall bring dismay
Unto our foes what ere their might,
The Blue and White get in the fight,
And we'll make this an Erskine Day!

We, the alumni editors of the 1963 Pinnacle, wish to express our sincere thanks to all the many people who have helped us in preparing the information we needed for our yearbook. We try to keep ten-year anniversary lists correct, and we hope to succeed eventually in getting an accurate record of the names of all graduates in our yearbook. Again, we thank everyone who has helped make this section complete, and also everyone who helped make the whole 1963 Pinnacle a success.

Graduation–

—by Lauret Fischer

As springtime draws near, it brings to your minds one thought—Graduation. Graduation is the one event that acts as a marker in the lives of every Senior. It represents a phase of your lives which can never actually be repeated, even though the wonderful memories of games, dances, clubs, classes, and fun will always be remember and treasured deep in your hearts. It represents the end of adolescence and the beginning of adulthood—adulthood which is often feared and dreaded, but finally accepted.

Graduation is also filled with tears and sorrow, sorrow at the thought of suddenly being separated from some of your lifelong friends, who have come to mean more to you than words can express. And now, now when your friendship is at it's best, you will be separated, perhaps never to meet again.

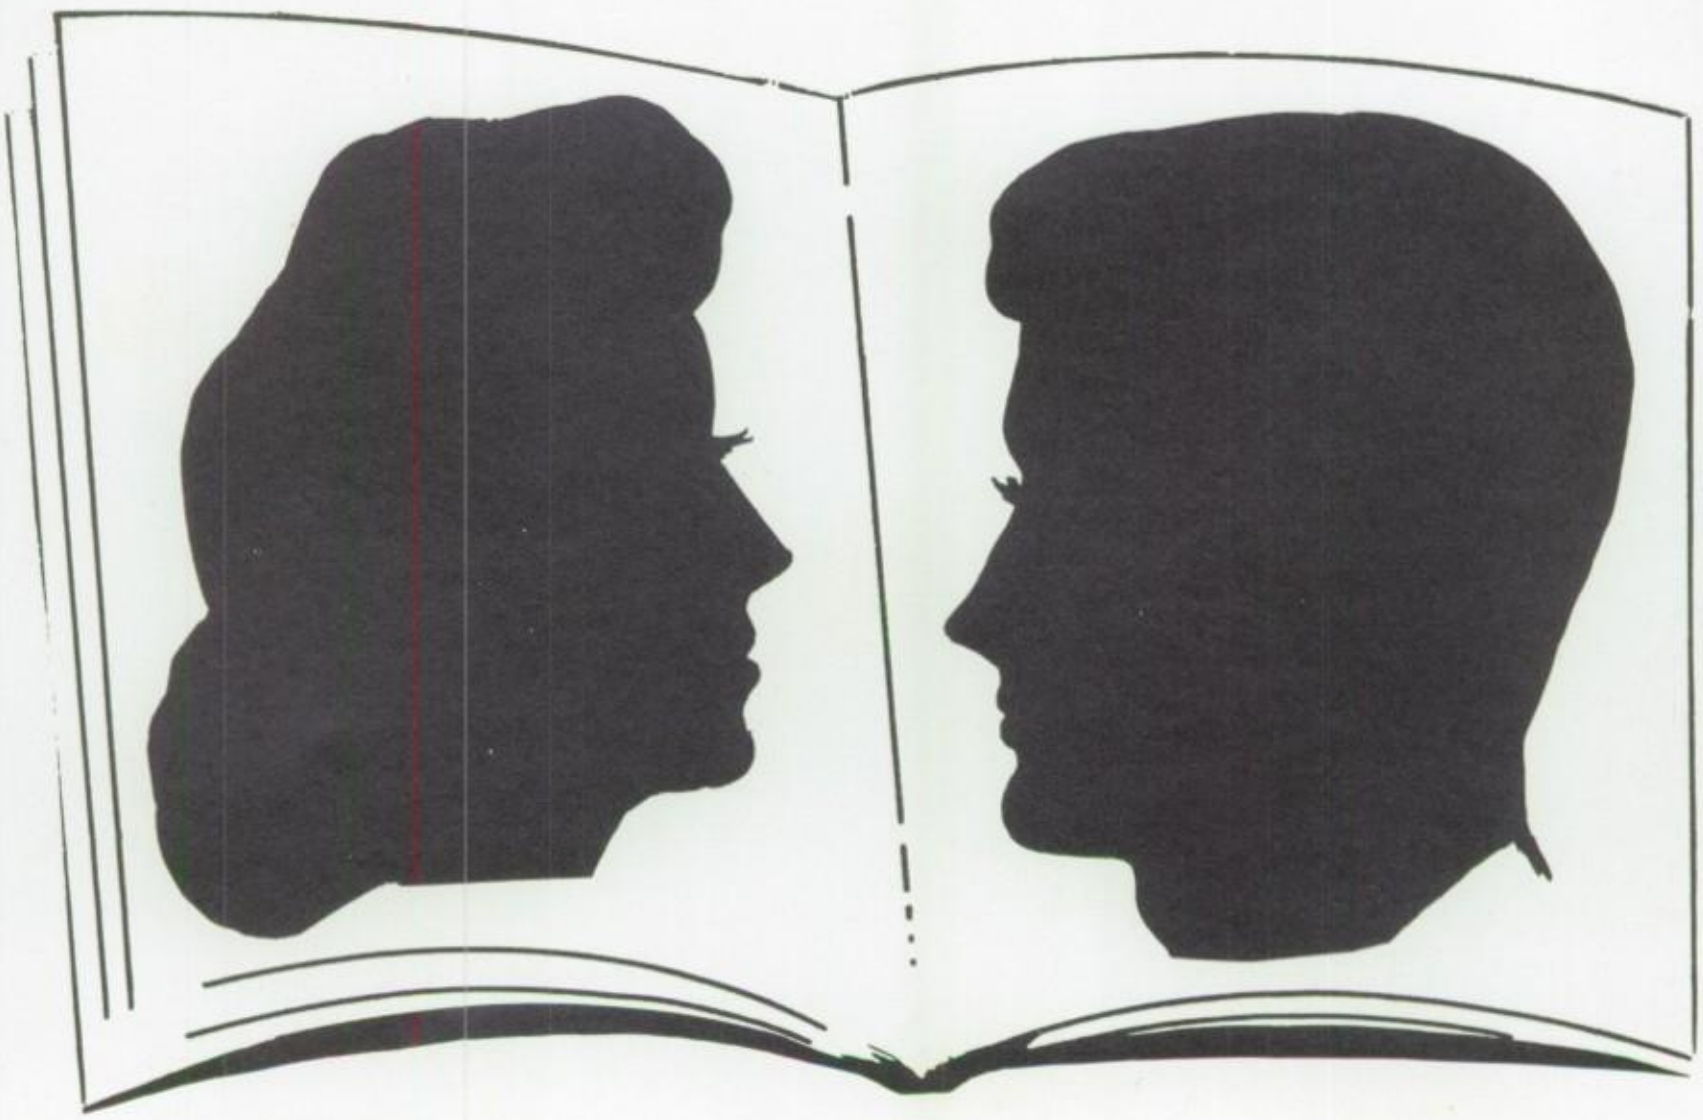
Fear also plays a large roll on this day of Graduation. It is the hidden element, unknown to some and accepted by others, which is kept deep in the darkest corner of your heart. The fear of leaving behind everything which is familiar and represents security, and emerging unprepared to face an unpitying world—a world, which you dream of as being all sugar and spice, but you find when you meet its many problems that it is by no means all sugar and spice, but a place of challenge and competition seasoned with hardships and struggles where you must work hard to make your dreams come true.

Graduation also represents the end of your high school education, which, you realize, now that it's too late, you would have, and should have been studying, but just didn't have enough time because of extra-curricular activities, which seemed more important at the moment. As you think back, you regret that you didn't study, and study hard, to obtain every bit of learning available from your four years.

You look forward with great anticipation and mixed emotions, to the higher degree of learning at the college or school of your choice. College presents new fears and emotions; for now, when you have just become accustomed to high school ways, you will be placed abruptly in a strange school, with many different things to learn, and people to meet. This wonderful experience which you should make the best of, is usually enjoyed, but sometimes strange people, places and things present themselves in the form of a threat rather than a very lasting, thrilling experience.

Happiness is another emotion which plays a large part in the lives of each of you. The happiness that marches down the aisle with you at graduation, is a different kind of happiness than you have ever experienced. It's not the same as the happiness you feel when you get a good grade, win a game, see an old friend, or hear good news—no—it's a different, deeper, happiness. It's a happiness that is so close to sadness, that it is almost impossible to distinguish the difference; but there is a difference, a very understandable difference. This happiness has a deeper, religious glow—a glow that makes you feel warm and cold, happy and sad, thankful and unfortunate, all at the same time. You may not especially like or understand this kind of happiness, but this is how it will be on your Graduation Day, and like it or not, you will always remember this feeling when in years to come, your memory slips back to your unforgettable Graduation Day.

These are just a few of the many emotions and thoughts that are a part of Graduation. Some are fine; others are less to be desired; but nevertheless, they are present. Therefore, forget your fears, overcome your faults, emphasize your good qualities, profit by your mistakes, make the best of your education, set your goal high and strive to reach it. But, above all, always remember—"Within Ourselves the Future Lies."



Many days have come and gone
During these past four years.
Now, let's stop and think back
As graduation nears.

Remember how many friends we've made,
And all the things we've done.
Try to think of another place
Where we've been and had so much fun.

Think of the teachers who've helped us,
And think of that class in Room L.
Think of the days we've had no school
Because of the snow that fell.

Remember the Chic-a-lac-as?
And also the Senior Play?
And all the rules that the teachers
Have begged us to please obey?

How many poems have been written,
And how many themes composed?
How many pens have been broken?
How many books have been closed?

Think of how many classes we've had,
And how fast the time has flown by.
Think of the teachers, friends, and pals,
To whom we must soon say "Good-bye."

Completed! Finished! All that hard work and fun that we have had editing our "Pinnacle" is over. Now, completed and finished, too, are our four years at E.A. with all their memories, friendships and accomplishments. It is with appreciation and sincere thanks to all those who have made our "Pinnacle" possible, and it is with regret and sadness, that we now must say goodbye to classmates, underclassmen, teachers and our dear cherished Erskine where we shall never again be students. But as we slowly pass through her doors, and as they close forever behind us, many new doors of the future will open for us. For, we realize that "within ourselves the future lies."
